Enduring Freedom Tribute Visit

Tuesday, April 11, 2006

The Naval Postgraduate School (NPS) recently became the temporary home for the Enduring Freedom Tribute statue. It will be displayed in Herrmann Hall through June before it is shipped to Washington, D.C.

The Enduring Freedom Tribute, commissioned by the Enduring Freedom Foundation, was created by sculptor Robert Signorella as a patriotic tribute to the men and women who serve in the United States Armed Forces and who provide and protect freedom for citizens of America and the world.

"It is an honor to have the Enduring Freedom tribute at NPS," said Gary Koeppel, one of the founders of the Enduring Freedom Foundation. "I hope as many service men and women as possible are able to enjoy this tribute to them."

General Peter Pace, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has accepted the statue on behalf of the United States Department of Defense for permanent display in the Pentagon.

The Enduring Freedom Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to honoring the Armed Forces by the procurement and placement of patriotic artworks. Previous contributions include the donation of an American Bald Eagle statue to the aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson (CVN 70) for permanent display aboard the ship.
